

Orange Bird Feeder

These are so charming and always a hit with my kids. Try to hang them on trees and shrubs that are easily viewed from your window, so you can watch the birds come and feast!

Materials

orange
(4) pieces of twine, yarn or string, cut into 24" lengths bird seed

With a sharp knife, cut the orange in half – scoop out the flesh. Pierce 4 small holes on opposite sides, about 1/2" from the top edge of each half. Thread one piece of twine through a hole, and out the opposite end. Repeat with the second piece of twine in the remaining holes (you'll have an "X"). Gather the ends together and tie in a knot. Repeat with the other half. Fill with bird seed and hang from sturdy branches outside.

Botanical Designs by Erin L. Taylor erintaylor@erinsbotanical.com
facebook: Erins Botanical Blog 978.289.7484

